

ANARCHY DEN.

What the Police of Pittsburgh Discovered.

Knold's Room Full of Anarchistic Literature.

Correspondence Shows that Anarchists Have Abiding Places in New York, Chicago, and Denver—Henry Bauer, the Anarchist, Under Arrest.

PITTSBURGH, July 27.—The police are jubilant over the arrest of Carl Knold, and believe that they are on the way toward the fountain head of the conspiracy that culminated in the tragedy of Saturday last. In the rooms of Knold's house were found large quantities of anarchistic literature and correspondence, indicating that anarchists have abiding places in New York, Chicago, Denver and other points. A large number of ciphers and cipher communications found indicated the existence of a general and secret mode of communication. One of these enclosed in an envelope bearing a New York date, appeared to be based upon the Hebrew alphabet. This seemed to dovetail in with a second that appeared to be simply a combination of unintelligible scrawls, and this by figures on its back was apparently a key to a third, in the front of an ingenious geometrical chart with numerous curves, each different from the other. A linen railroad map of the United States had upon it three marks, intended to indicate air lines between New York and Chicago, and these were marked at intervals with figures, which related to cipher words on the back.

The place must have been used as headquarters for the distribution of this dangerous stuff. There were many copies of Freedom, a rabidly anarchistic sheet edited by Lucy Parsons, the dusky relict of the executed anarchist in Chicago. The paper was filled with matter bloodthirsty and bombastic, some of the articles calling upon anarchists to pull down the wage question and wage slavery.

There was also a bundle of another Chicago anarchistic sheet, named "Gaslight," printed on deep red paper, and of Herr Most's "Freiheit." Some had black and others red borders.

Of various communications in German, and written from widely separated places, there was enough to fill a small satchel, while as a finale the police came across a packet of tickets for a raffle of a fine relief picture of the "five martyrs of the working class," Spies, Parsons, Ling, Engle and Fisher, the proceeds to go "for the benefit of the English agitation," and the raffle to be held next month.

Knold is still at the Central station, and information of some kind will be made against him in order to secure his detention. He is very unlikely to secure bail, for his employers, who had no knowledge of his anarchistic temperament, have declined to stand by him.

All the available detectives of the city are engaged in a search for a satchel carried by Bergman when he entered the city, as it is thought that it may contain documents or other matter which may afford additional clues to the conspiracy.

Bergman is beginning to chafe under the strict discipline and frugal fare of the county jail, and he is more ugly and morose in his disposition than ever. He denies that he is acquainted with Knold or stopped at his house, and when confronted with a man who saw him in the place, he persisted in his denial with considerable volubility and a dangerous gleam in his eye. When he was told that under the six informations filed against him by Secretary Lovejoy—felonious shooting, felonious cutting and felonious entry—he could, upon conviction, be sentenced to 33 years' imprisonment, he merely shrugged his shoulders, and then, going in the further corner of his cell, puffed viciously at his cigarette.

The report from Mr. Frick's home this morning is that all through the night his condition was entirely satisfactory. He slept most of the night and awoke this morning refreshed and cheerful.

Tuesday morning Mr. Lovejoy said: "Mr. Carnegie will not come here until we send for him."

At 11:50 five police officers arrested in Allegheny Henry Bauer, the head center of the anarchists of this region. The officials regard the arrest of Bauer the most important since the shooting. He is a professional agitator, drawing his support from the anarchist groups, and devotes his time to the distribution of the revolutionary literature received from Chicago. He lives with a shoemaker at 73 Spring Garden street, Allegheny, where he was captured. On Sunday he was seen entering Knold's house with a parcel.

Withdrawal of Troops From Homestead. HOMESTEAD, Pa., July 27.—The withdrawal of soldiers from Homestead has commenced. These two regiments will be held until there is no further danger of trouble.

JAILER TIPTON.

Of Mt. Sterling, Ky., and a Constable Killed by a Horse-Thief.

MT. STERLING, Ky., July 27.—This city is in the highest state of excitement and business is almost entirely suspended. More than 100 men are in arms and in pursuit of the horse-thief, Henderson Hurley, of Madison county, who Tuesday morning killed the jailer of this county, Cavanaugh Tipton, and Constable Thomas Howard, and wounded George Rayborne. The facts from the only witness of the posse, E. E. Keith, are these:

Monday Jailer Tipton received a telegram from Madison county telling of the stealing that the thief had done. Mr. Tipton started after Hurley, taking with him the men named, whom he picked up en route. Hurley was found in John Pett's house, in Menifee county, some 15 miles from here.

They surrounded the place, but a watch-dog made so much noise that they determined to enter the house. Tipton first entered and sat down in a chair. As Pett struck a match, Tipton was shot by Hurley from under the bed, the ball entering the brain, from which he died in a few hours.

Howard then entered and the thief fired a second shot. The ball entered Howard's forehead, killing him instantly. Rayborne then entered the room and was shot in the shoulder. The thief then ran from the room into the woods and is yet at large. A K. & S. A. train is now leaving with more men and physicians.

OUTLAW AT BAY.

A U. S. Marshal and Posse Bent on His Capture.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 27.—Putnam county has the most desperate outlaw known in Tennessee for many years. His name is Johnson Sloan and he is an ex-postmaster. He was indicted for robbing the mails, and last Friday killed one of the deputy marshals who went to arrest him. After the killing he rode into Cookeville, the county seat of Putnam, and terrorized the whole town. Stores were closed and business suspended till he left. He ran the postmaster out of town, and made the sheriff follow suit. Since then he has been at his home with six ready Winchester rifles defying arrest. United States Marshall C. B. Harrison, brother of President Harrison, is on the ground and has got the sheriff to organize a posse of 100 men, of which he and a deputy marshal are leaders, and they have decided to make an attack to-day. No one doubts but that a number of men will be killed.

FRIGHTFULLY BURNED.

A Carboy of Sulphuric Acid Explodes, Scattering the Liquid Over the Body of John Bode.

CINCINNATI, July 27.—John Bode, aged 55 years, has been at the Gracell chemical works for 20 years. Tuesday morning he was sent out into the yard to empty a carboy of sulphuric acid. In picking up the big glass bottle the contents were shaken up, causing a fearful explosion. The fiery fluid was scattered all over the poor fellow, who sank to the ground moaning with pain. The explosion attracted fellow-workmen, and Bode was taken home. His breast and arms and neck presented a horrible appearance. The skin was charred to a crisp, and in places the raw flesh was exposed. Fortunately the acid did not strike his eyes. The carboy was left in the yard all night, and it is supposed that the heat was largely responsible for the chemical changes resulting in the explosion.

SCARED INTO CONFESSION.

A Prisoner Who Thought He Was Dying From Sunstroke Clears Up a Mysterious Crime.

BRISTOL, Tenn., July 27.—Geo. Denny, a white prisoner in Sullivan county, who thought he was dying from sunstroke, has made a strange confession that clears up a mystery. He says he saw Will Richards, a young street-car driver, and James Kinney, an overhauler, murder Jack Overstreet, the night watchman at the street-car stables, December 15 of last year. The stables and all the company's property, amounting to thousands of dollars, were burned, and the charred remains of the colored watchman were incased in a dozen barrel hoops. Denny claims that the murderers compelled him at the point of a pistol to swear eternal silence, but the police think he was a participant in the awful crime. Richards and Kinney are now under arrest.

Eight Foremen Quit.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., July 27.—As a result of the shooting of Mr. Frick eight foremen left the mill Monday, and also a number of men, it was stated. The foreman of the mechanical department said they had been told by Amalgamated men that they had better quit, and through fear of being shot they had done so. The Amalgamated men deny this, and say they quit on account of being disgraced with the non-union men.
